

Whichwarehouse.com

Whichwarehouse is a new, independent portal designed to put Warehouse Operators, commercial Estate Agents, and associated Equipment / Service providers in touch with the right target audience.

By promoting your facilities and services here you can target thousands of potential customers 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 365 days per year. We provide a unique point of contact for all individuals interested in the warehousing sector.

With our background in distribution and freight-related industries, the management team at Whichwarehouse know how important it is to find the right information fast. Our "intelligent" search facility won't waste your time with inappropriate enquiries. As we are privately financed we are truly independent, offering the same quick and efficient service to all our advertisers

How can using Whichwarehouse benefit you?

Our marketing strategy is designed to increase the exposure of your facility among those organisations actively seeking a solution to their storage needs, allowing you to promote your warehouse and services directly to the right target audience.

Whichwarehouse is intended to be the first "port-of-call" for all companies and individuals wishing to acquire information on any aspect of the sector. Therefore, by placing one, or all, of your facilities on our national database you will be targeting those customers that actually want to do business with you.

We do not negotiate rates or terms between potential users and warehouse operators. We simply provide a medium whereby users can identify suitable storage facilities. There are no hidden fees!

A listing on the Whichwarehouse website positions your property in front of active warehouse users for a period of no less than twelve months. Traditional advertising, including trade press, costs significantly more and has a life limited to the frequency of the publication.

Visitors to the site can search FREE. Users of Whichwarehouse can complete as many searches as they require and there is no need to register prior to searching the web-site. They simply logon and search. Our comprehensive search facility allows visitors to search as broadly or narrowly as they see fit.

Time efficient, immediate and high quality market intelligence within the UK warehousing sector through ONE independent source.

Our combined industry experience and extensive market coverage ensures that your facility receives the greatest exposure among your potential customers, enabling you to secure the best solution for your business.

For further information please contact
 Joel Ray
 Telephone: +44 (0)1376 564011
 email: info@whichwarehouse.com
 web-site: www.whichwarehouse.com